JJYD Program Categories for Funded Service Areas

After-School / Summer Programs - Recreational, cultural, and educational activities for youth outside of school hours for the purpose to provide children constructive activities during parents work hours.

Day Treatment – Non-residential treatment services intended to provide treatment and support services to youth adjudicated delinquent or evaluated by a juvenile court officer to be at risk of such adjudication. The youth admitted to day treatment programs, typically are at risk of placement into group care.

Diversion/Life Skills – Provide interpersonal skills training and other competency development to delinquents in a small group or standardized setting. Life Skills training works with youth on social skills and values training. Specific group programming is used for identified deficiencies in areas such as anger management, victim empathy, interpersonal relationships, shoplifting, acceptance of responsibility, and problem solving.

Family Therapy/Counseling - Community based efforts to provide specific counseling or therapy. Types of programs include: individual, family, crisis, or group counseling.

Gender-Specific - Programs designed specifically for and to meet the needs of girls.

Information Technology - Support for the gathering, recording and sharing of information necessary to plan and program in an effective manner.

Mentoring - Programs that match youth with caring adult mentors to build positive relationships.

Other - Any of the variety of programming that doesn't fit into the above categories, including staff training, equipment, conferences. These expenses will be identified in the narrative of the report.

Restorative Justice – An alternative sanction program that involves any one or combination of three basic elements: Community Service, Restitution, and Victim Offender Mediation and Family Group Conferencing.

School-Based Programs - Prevention and intervention initiatives that occur in school during the school day (i.e. juvenile court liaisons, school resource officers, F.A.S.T., bullying curriculum).

Substance Abuse Prevention - Programs that educate youth on the dangers of using tobacco, alcohol, and other drugs.

Substance Abuse Treatment - Programs that provide treatment for youth who have abused alcohol and/or other drugs (i.e. evaluation, outpatient treatment, inpatient treatment, drug court).

System Coordination - Includes costs associated with program and fiscal management at the project level (i.e. DECAT staff time, fiscal agent fees, and supplies).

Tracking / Monitoring – Intensive supervision and probation services that provide one-to-one guidance and monitoring of a juvenile offender with the goal of maintaining client accountability and establishing positive behavior patterns. The services are designed to provide a continuum of individualized interventions to adolescents and their families 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. These services are also used as part of aftercare for youth that are returning home from out of home placement. Services include electronic monitoring and substance abuse testing (i.e. urinalysis).
